

15 NOVEMBER 2006

---

Satellite mpr delivers energy-saving programme to the FLVA at their Annual General Meeting in Scarborough

Claire Lalaguna of Satellite mpr was among the seminar speakers at this year's Annual General Meeting of the Federation of Licensed Victuallers Associations, speaking on behalf of Hospitable Climates to present the potential energy savings achievable for the hospitality sector (Hospitable Climates: www.hospitableclimates.org.uk).

Attended by over 50 delegates, many from the North of England, Claire certainly engaged their attention and interest in the Hospitable Climates programme. One delegate was keen to sign up immediately... David Hawksworth of the Fox & Hounds Public House in Bullamoor, just outside Northallerton in North Yorkshire, has already demonstrated several forward-thinking measures to improve the energy efficiency of his pub and is looking forward to developing his eco-friendly pub still further with the help of Hospitable Climates.

Tony Payne, Chief Executive of the FLVA, was very pleased with the presentation, "Claire gave an excellent presentation. It is so important to make businesses more aware of the need for energy efficiency within our industry. Many delegates have commented that the seminar was very helpful and provided useful information for their businesses."

Click here for the full story on the Fox & Hounds, Bullamoor.