Agency expands to meet increasing workload

Satellite is delighted to announce that Felicity Tomlinson has recently joined the team in Arundel.

Felicity is local to Arundel and, coming from a background in freelance feature writing for consumer magazines, brings experience in public relations co-ordination and administration to the agency. She is currently nearing the end of her studies in journalism, specialising in Local and Central Government including broad spectrum journalism and editing and is looking forward to an exciting career in public relations with Satellite MPR.

Felicity will be supporting the team in new business development, copywriting and general administration.

Felicity's outside interests include running and amateur dramatics - she regularly participates in the Arundel Festival and will this year be performing a monologue entitled This Time.
